

Managing Student Conflicts

“He that saith he is in the light, and hateth his brother, is in darkness even until now.” - I John 2:9

What are the benefits and risks with letting them work it out themselves?

How can student conflicts be turned into a beneficial scenario?

What elements of biblical justice apply to managing school-age children?

GUIDING QUESTIONS FOR HANDLING CONFLICTS

What's the wrong way to react?

Who's the appropriate person to handle the situation?

What are the facts?

Who's guilty? Guilty of what?

What moral lessons need to be learned/improved?

Who needs to be informed?

What needs to be done to prevent future instances?

How will future incidents be handled?

What is the appropriate role of the teacher? Parent? Student? Administration?